

Nexus Electronics and The Advantage Group (TAG) Sign Distribution Agreement

(Portland, Ore.) - October 22, 2007 - Nexus Electronics, a division of CTL Corporation (CTL), said today that it is achieving continued growth in its distribution channel. Most recently, The Advantage Group (TAG) signed an agreement under which it will carry the Nexus television line nationwide. This brings to 23, the total number of distributors of Nexus plasma and LCD televisions.

TAG (Charlottesville, Va.) is a national distribution group connecting custom installers and systems integrators with select manufacturers' product lines. TAG is the Installers Resource and is known and respected for the depth of local services and support it provides to customers.

"We are delighted that TAG is carrying our line. It is rewarding to have a group of this caliber representing us and affirming to custom installers and integrators, the quality of our products," said Gary Welk, director of business development for Nexus Electronics.

"We are pleased that our search for a highly featured competitively priced flat panel manufacturer has culminated in this agreement between Nexus and TAG," said David Weisman, TAG executive director. "We strive to bring CEDIA focused, leading technology, high value products to our dealers and Nexus fits this strategy perfectly."
